1915 FIRES FEWER LESS DESTRUCTIVE

MADISON, Wis., Jan. 27.—A considerable decrease in the number and destructiveness of fires in Wisconsin is shown for the year 1915 compared with 1914, according to returns made to the state fire marshal department. The returns for the twelve months of 1914 show a total of 3,150 fires, with a total loss of $5,849,193. On the other hand the year 1915 shows a total of 2,860 fires with combined losses of $4,172,040. This makes 290 less fires in 1915 and $1,677,063 less losses than in 1914.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Jan. 27.—The Pennsylvania railroad has declared its regular quarterly dividend of 1½ per cent.

When a man expresses the cynical conviction that all women are flirtatious, inconstant and easily kissed it is a sign that he had done his share in making a lot of them that way.

ITALIANS FOUGHT IN DEFENSE OF MOUNT LOWCEN

BERLIN, via wireless to Sayville, Jan. 27.—Italian troops fought with the Montenegrins in their last stand on Mount Lowcen, the "Gibraltar of the Adriatic," according to a semi-official statement describing the Montenegrins' surrender.

Five hundred Italians were among the first to flee when the Austrians charged the heights, said the statement, which gave the first intimation of the presence of Italians in Montenegro.

"French troops attempted to retake lost trenches east of Neuville by a large number of counter attacks, but were always repulsed, several times in hand to hand fights," the official statement said. "French mines in the Argonne damaged a short portion of German trenches near Height 285."

AGAINST BIRTH CONTROL

RACINE, Wis., Jan. 27.—Mrs. Andrew Hanson, wife of a laborer here, is not an advocate of birth control. She is the mother of fourteen children, seven sons and seven daughters, all present Tuesday when she celebrated the seventieth anniversary of her birthday.

A DELINQUENT HUSBAND

BY ERNE OLIMSTEAD

(Copyright, 1916, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Beatrice straightened up from her darning and glanced across the living room table at her husband engrossed in the evening paper. Her appraisal was silent, but comprehensive. Except for a little thinning of the hair above the temples and the addition of a little flesh and eyeglasses, Fred was the same fine looking fellow she had married. In fact, the glasses but emphasized an air of distinction that had ever been characteristic of him, and Beatrice had noticed, too, that his magnetism seemed to grow with the years.

She sighed, then got up and went to a hall mirror and began an investigation of herself. She felt pretty ancient, with eight-year-old twins asleep upstairs. It had been a long time since she had given herself much thought, but now she looked searchingly at each individual feature, her hair, her eyes, the curve of her mouth and her smooth, velvety cheeks. She gazed long and carefully but finally turned away satisfied.

She had once been the most sought after girl in town on account of her beauty, and she felt that there was enough left to carry out a plan she was making. For Beatrice had been thinking as she darned and had just about concluded to do something.

Fred's magnetism—the thing that had caught and held her when she struggled against marriage and the loss of her freedom—unfortunately had the same effect upon other women that it had upon herself. Fred was the lion of the hour. And just because he "had a way with him"—making everybody feel that he, or especially she, was the only being on the globe who amounted to anything—he was flirted with and petted by every pretty woman he met.

The effect had been slow but sure. Fred had been spoiled and had gotten away from her. He was to all purposes his old devoted self, but it was a casual, accustomed sort of love he had for her now, she felt, and his devotion was a habit rather than a passion. He called her his "dear old Bee" and all that, it is true, but if anything kept her home from a party it didn't affect either his own attending or his own good time. And if she did go it did not affect them either, for that matter, for he was scarcely with her at all.

Beatrice had never cared much or resented all this. She was busy with home duties and her children, and she argued that Fred would come back to her when the children were older and she had more time. But now the children were older and she had plenty of time—too much, but Fred had not come back.

"I think I'll run over to the club."

Bee." Her husband came out of the living room and went for his hat. "If I am not home by eleven, go to bed, goodby." He kissed her lightly on the cheek and went out. Beatrice knew he would not be home by eleven, and she knew, too, that he could have taken her with him if he had wished it, for there was an informal dance every Friday. And the maid could have stayed with the children well enough.

She sighed and went back to the mirror. "I'm right," she assumed herself again, "and I'm going to do it. It's worth trying, anyway, and if it doesn't work I'll be no worse off than I am now. I'm sure Fred still cares for me, only he doesn't know it. So I'll have to show him."

She went to her desk and took out two letters. The first was a business letter inclosing a check for $500, her own dividend that she received from some family stock. The second was from Evelyn Warren, in New York, urging her to make them a visit. "We are in the midst of a merry whirl, dearie," she wrote, "so you'll have no chance to be bored. Besides, Cecil Frampton is here and not married yet. (He never got over losing you, Bee.) Two weeks away from that poky old place will make a new woman of you. Do come. Lovingly, Eva."

With the check she had decided to do so many things—to surprise Fred on his birthday by fixing over the old nursery into a billiard room, for one thing, and to get the children a pony, for another. But if she did either, she couldn't accept Evelyn's invitation, as she needed clothes, and that was part of her plan. She reread Evelyn's letter and thought of Fred's indifferent parting. "I'll do it," she said to herself for the third time, and this time she wrote a letter of acceptance to New York leaving the place for the date vacant to be filled in later. Then she hauled out some fashion magazines and read until eleven.

"Fred," she asked at breakfast, "when do you think you will make your business trip to New York? You always go about this time, don't you?"

"Yes, I've been thinking about it. About the 25th, I suppose. Why?"

"When you are away I think I'll take the children and—go to Aunt Martha's. She's been writing for us you know. I'm getting some new clothes."

"That's right. You won't get so lonely." Time was when he would have said: "Can't you get Aunt Martha to come and stay here with the children so you can go with me? The trip would do you good."

In fact, in their early married life she had gone with him twice and she knew what a round of pleasure it was. She strongly suspected, however, that nowadays the round of pleasure had no place for her, and she was right.

That day she filled in the date of the letter and mailed it; then betook herself to the tailors and dressmakers in a near-by city. Time was short for what she had to do.

Fred, too, made due preparations for his trip East, and when he finally arrived in the great metropolis he was received by a certain pleasure-loving set with wide-open arms. A few hours with business men through the day and long evenings of dining, dancing, theaters and cabarets with jolly people.

"Freddie," declared pretty Mrs. Huntleigh, "you have saved my life. Tom's niece is visiting us and we need an odd man for her. We have a thousand things to do in the next two weeks and I am going to expect you to see us through. So 'Freddie' was helping them out to the best of his ability.

One night at the theater, a party came in late and occupied a box quite near them. At the close of the act Fred leaned over to Isabelle. "What do you think of it, Miss Murtland? Good music, eh?" For answer she merely nodded her head toward the newcomers. "I was wondering," she said, "who that stunning looking woman is talking to Cecil Frampton. They are with the Warrens."

He followed her glance and started with dismay. For it was Beatrice whom Isabelle Murtland had noticed. Beatrice, so bewilderingly beautiful and looking so wonderfully happy and animated that he had to look again to be sure it was she. Beatrice did not see him and he drew back into the shadow of the box. "She is pretty, by Jove!" he managed to get out. And he was right. His wife was by far the loveliest woman in the house.

In the next week, he saw her four times with Frampton and the Warrens, at different places of amusement, but he always managed some way to remain unnoticed. Beatrice was always beautifully gowned, and when he could see, were anxious to meet her and talk to her. The iron of jealousy was entering his soul, and he swore to kill Frampton, whom he knew of old and all about his suit for Beatrice.

"My wife's the best looking woman in New York," he cried, savagely one evening. "I don't know how she happens to be here, but I know she isn't going to flirt with that fool any longer. And he called up the Warrens on the phone."

"Beatrice went home this morning," said Evelyn Warren in answer to his inquiry. "She tried to find you everywhere when she was here. She was so sorry and disappointed." "Heavens!" she exclaimed when he had rung off. "If that man ever finds out how we worked and contrived to follow him about and how the Huntleighs helped us out, he'll shoot every one of us. The silly man did need a lesson, though, and I hope he's got it. I hope Beatrice will keep him jealous for the rest of his life. It's the only way to hold some men. She is a darling! And Cecil has been a brick, poor dear! I only hope Bee won't tell Fred a word of the plot, or she'll spoil it all."

And Beatrice didn't, and a more devoted husband that Freddie doesn't exist.

NEWS NOTES from MOVIELAND

Announcement has been made by the Jesse L. Lasky Feature Play company that the first of a series of picturizations of Mark Twain's works to be produced by the company will be "Pudd'nhead Wilson," with Theodore Roberts as the star, which will be released January 31, on the Paramount program.

The production is one of special elaborateness. Margaret Turnbull made the photoplay version from the book, and Frank Reicher, who produced "The Secret Orchard" and other photoplays for the Lasky company, directed the production.

It is possible by reason of the motion picture to retain practically all of the atmosphere of the novel to make its human interest appeal ever more marked.

Among those who will appear in support of Mr. Roberts in "Pudd'nhead Wilson" are Thomas Meighan, Florence Dagmar and Alan Hale.

One Bright New Star of the Movies

One Bright, a pretty blonde with a face meeting all the requirements for drama photographically presented, although she did not know it at the time, came down from the Sierra Nevada mountains, where she was born in a mining camp, and entered a convent at San Francisco. From there she went to the stage. And now she has just been engaged by Captain Harry Lambert, chief producer for the Mirror Film, Inc., to play ingenue parts in features which will be put out by that organization. She has been assigned to appear first in Lawrence Marston's company as leading ingenue with Nat Goodwin.

Finished Actress, But Only Nineteen

Francis Nelson, who assumes the leading role in the film version of Jules Eckert Goodman's drama, "The Point of View," is the most recent recruit of stellar rank to the forces of the World Film Corporation. Miss Nelson's role in "The Point of View" is one singularly suited to the remarkable emotional powers of this most charming of young actresses.

"Young" is used advisedly as Miss Nelson can lay claim to being the youngest portrayal of stormy characters on the screen as she has only just passed her nineteenth year.

Theodore Roberts.

Although Theodore Roberts is most often cast as a villain, and a very bad one at that, he is personally very popular in the film world. He will appear here soon in Mark Twain's "Pudd'nhead Wilson."

Miss Nelson's rise to fame has been meteoric yet behind it lies much hard and earnest work and painstaking toil to develop her great ability.

Mary Fuller has begun work on another feature picture, called "The Girl Who Feared Daylight." Miss Fuller is of the opinion that this play gives her the best opportunity she has ever had to do good acting for the cinema camera.

The first five-reel feature in which Miss Marguerite Courtot will be starred is called "The Dead Alive."

"PUNCH" IN THIS CROWD

The La Follette meeting at Camp Douglas Monday was of the vigorous, useful type. There was shown an earnest purpose to put punch into the coming campaign. There was exhibited an unselfishness in the matter of representation which argues for close, hard work of the all-together sort.

The men selected were of the active, sound principled type. Hon. Merlin Hull and Hon. Andrew H. Dahl, rivals in the last campaign, were prominent in the work. Mr. Hull, indeed, waved away every consideration excepting the welfare of the progressive movement, with a spirit that won applause from the delegates, and uncomplainingly accepted the burden of managing the busy campaign to follow. Stone, Dahl, Thompson, Sanborn, Doerfler, Houser—these names selected as delegates are known throughout the state as standing firmly for the Wisconsin Idea.

"North Dakota, the first state to hold a presidential primary, will name a solid La Follette delegation," said Senator Bosshard. "Wisconsin will follow with twenty-seven more. We enter this fight with the first victory assured the prestige of a big impetus for future successes. I say this presidential primary will forecast the results of the September primaries."

Some ill-advised enthusiasts started a boom for Governor Philipp as a presidential aspirant before the presidential primary. That was Monday Wednesday the governor promptly squelched it. They said this would be the test between La Follette and Philipp as Wisconsin's "favorite son". He knows that what Senator Bosshard said is the truth.

OUR FAITH SHOCKED BUT NOT CRUSHED

A colored child was asked to name an amphibious creature; he replied that fish are the "mos' fibious ob all." Of course it's the fishermen, not the fish, and the more one has to do with fish, the more "fibious" one becomes.

That rather hands the banner to Frank Guenther, of the New York Fish company, but there is a limit at which even Frank balks. Yesterday Mr. Guenther mailed the TRIBUNE the following clipping:

RED WING, Minn., Jan. 3.—Picture a solid square business block filled to a depth of 12 feet with carp and other rough fish and you get an idea of the immense haul made by David Gentenbein, of Diamond Bluff, in a single sweep of Lake Elysian with a seine 1500 feet in length.

Mr. Gentenbein estimated that fully 50 carloads of fish were caught in the net, but as there is no market for that quantity of fish at this time, and facilities for immediate shipment are inadequate, all but a few carloads of carp were released in the lake. He declared the haul was the greatest in the history of the fishing industry in the Northwest.

From now on Mr. Gentenbein will ship carp and other rough fish alive to New York and other Eastern points. The market on live fish of the rough species commands most attractive prices, and arrangements have been completed with the railroad for shipping the fish in specially-constructed refrigerator cars.

Mr. Guenther's letter chuckled inkily. He said a 1,500 wouldn't cover fifty carloads of fish, packed like sardines. It would take four locomotives to move a seine so loaded, dragging in the river bed. The first haul would break the net into a thousand pieces.

"No," said Guenther, "Dave Gentenbein isn't without imagination, but he never pulled that one. Somebody padded the returns." We suspect Mr. Guenther is jealous of Mr. Gentenbein's neat little yarn. If Frank will read this yarn over three or four times to get used to it, we are prepared to wager he'll offer to prove it by showing shipping receipts for the entire fifty cars. We positively refuse to believe that a Red Wing "string fiend" has floored Frank Guenther with a fish story.

HOW IT "HAPPENS"

If Gov. Philipp is the railroad-owned executive La Follette would have us believe, how does it happen that railroad rates in Wisconsin are cheaper than in our neighboring states?—Whitewater Gazette.

It happens because, in the "good old days" when the governor was associating with Burton Hanson and other railroad representatives engaged in fighting the railroad taxation bills, La Follette's tax commission was busily engaged in reducing Wisconsin rates to a fair and equitable basis. Where and when has the governor reduced a freight tariff?

Pellagra Death Here Not First In State Record

MADISON, Wis., Jan. 27.—The recent death of a La Crosse man from pellagra is not the first of this kind in Wisconsin. Statistics record seven pellagra deaths in the two-year period 1912-1913. Most of these were of inmates of institutions. Recent discoveries of the United States Public Health service point to the cause as restriction of the diet to too few varieties of food. Dr. W. F. Lorenz, assistant superintendent of the Mendota state hospital, spent many months in the south in the employ of the government in a study of the causes of pellagra. Extensive tests conducted by Dr. Lorenz and his associates resulted in the conclusions above noted.

DRINK HOT TEA FOR A BAD COLD

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once.

It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.

for so small a place one is enough; hang the other."

Made a Difference

"The boys are throwing stones at a poor peddler."

"Outrageous."

"That's what I think."

"Whose boys are they?"

"Yours."

"Oh, well, boys will be boys. Let the children play."

Most Successful

Bizzy—What's the matter, old man, you look worried?

Fizzy—I have some cause to be engaged a man to trace my pedigree.

Fizzy—Well, hasn't he succeeded?

Bizzy—Succeeded? I should say he has! Now, I'm paying him hush money.—Philadelphia Evening Ledger.

Used Wrong Word

Elderly Relative (her first visit)—I am much pleased, Ethel, with the appearance of your husband. He looks like a man who would have no difficulty in carving out a successful career for himself.

Young Wife—"You won't say that auntie, when you see poor Harry try his hand on a turkey."

His Official Capacity

William Collier and a couple of other actors were dining in a hotel cafe when Collier directed his companions' attention to a very dapper looking man with a suspiciously red nose who had just passed.

"A very prominent member of the Larchmont Yacht club," announced Collier, with a grave air.

"Is that so?" asked one of the players, who, as Collier knows, always evinces a strong interest in the doings of society.

"What is his official capacity?"

"About three gallons, I think," said Collier.—The Argonaut.

Blurted Tom

"Look here," said Mr. Fatthédde, angrily. "I'm not going to stand this sort of thing any longer. That brother of yours called me a fool today, and in public, too."

"That's just like Tom," replied his wife. "He's always blurted out family secrets."

Out of Date

Lover—"For you, darling, 'I wad lay me doon and dee'."

Maiden—"That sort of thing is out of date. What a girl wants nowadays is a man willing to get up and hustle."

Suffragettes Lay Siege to President Wilson

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—President Wilson yesterday told two hundred and fifty New York suffragists that he has not changed his views that the suffrage question should be decided by the state legislatures and not by congress.

The president was finally "smoked out" by the suffragists after they had laid siege to the presidential suite for three hours. Having failed to obtain an engagement with the president at Washington, leaders of the congressional union working for the passage of the suffrage amendment before congress, rented a room at the Waldorf and appeared with one hundred followers when President Wilson and Mrs. Wilson arrived in New York today.

They opened hostilities by bombarding the chief executive with notes. President Wilson delivered a reply, explaining that he was too busy.

The reply was unsatisfactory to the suffragettes. They caucused and then addressed a rejoinder to the presidential suite. The president sent down a second reply, refusing to accede to their demands.

At this juncture the diplomatic crisis was ended by the intervention of Oscar, the maître d'hotel. Oscar weighs 240 pounds and moves with difficulty and much perspiration. He refused to carry any more notes.

Brooklyn Girl Disappears

CHAUFEUR ALSO MISSING

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—Miss Grace McLoughlin, heiress to $250,000 of the estate of her father, the late Pat McLoughlin, rich Brooklyn policeman, has been missing since December 9 and a country-wide search, it was learned today, has failed to find her.

George Stevens, youthful owner of the garage where Miss McLoughlin's car was kept, has been missing since December 9.

Miss Katherine Ingles, Grace McLoughlin's aunt, said she received this note from the girl:

"Forgive me for leaving you all alone. Please don't worry and don't be mad at me."

Women Golfers Meet in New York

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—The annual meeting of the Women's Metropolitan Golf association is being held today at the Biltmore. The election of officers resulted in the choice of Mrs. Francis E. Donohoe of the Montclair Golf club as president of the association. New Jersey thus gets back the presidency, which it has held ever since the golfers of greater New York organized fifteen years ago, up to last year. Mrs. Donohoe has done much for the association, for she handled the handicapping, which is no little task. The new executive board includes two women from New Jersey, two from Long Island, two from Westchester and one from Rockland county.

A WORD TO LA CROSSE HOUSEKEEPERS

Your family will be much healthier and you will also make a big saving in household expenses if you serve the deliciously appetizing "Minnesota" spaghetti at least twice each week in place of meat.

"Minnesota" spaghetti is four times as nutritious as beef-steak and yet costs only one cent a dish. It contains more proteins than most foods and is therefore more strength giving and less fattening.

"Minnesota" spaghetti is fine for children—making their bodies strong and vigorous. And they love the rich, nut-like flavor.

Be sure to insist on "Minnesota" spaghetti, made from the genuine Durum wheat with all the wonderfully nourishing Gluten left in.

High School Haps

The much delayed opera for the glee clubs has finally been decided, "The Chimes of Normandy" being chosen. This is a more serious opera than any yet presented and while the parts are not difficult it is expected that this will require more work in the choruses than in any Gilbert-Sullivan opera. Miss McLean is going after it with a vim, however, and has secured the services of Miss Dunn, former dramatic teacher, to aid her.

Inter-Scholastic tryouts were given last night, the following making the teams: McGlathlan, Sanders, Mannix, Weis, Bunge and Dickens. Sparta will be met February 11 with the Philippine question at stake. No alternates were chosen this year. They were considered useless expenses.

Of the February class, six have already succeeded in finding positions and one, Hugo Endres, has left for the university.

On account of crowding and a large incoming February class, the lunch room has been made into two recitation rooms. All gymnasium classes will be held in the new gym, girls in the morning and boys in the afternoon. The old gym will be fixed suitably for a lunch room.

INVENTION MARVELS USED IN NEW FILM

Funmaking up to the minute might designate "Dizzy Heights and Daring Hearts," the new Triangle-Keystone comedy. Mack Sennett, the director general of the Keystone forces, believes in using the latest marvels of science and invention in his wonderful comedies. For instance, he shows some remarkable scenes about an aeroplane factory.

The hazard of the game is shown when a wing gets loose in flight and the aviator has a narrow escape. There are other scenes that surpass anything that has come from the European war.

This great comedy will be at the Majestic theater today, Friday and Saturday. The other feature on the program will be Wm. S. Hart, House Peters and Enid Markey in Thomas H. Ince's production "Between Men."

BRITISH EXPECT MORE AIR RAIDS

LONDON, Jan. 27.—Raids by Zeppelins and the new giant Fokker aeroplanes are expected by the London authorities in the near future. It was indicated today by a statement published in the newspapers.

The municipal authorities at the same time served notice that London is better prepared to meet attacks from the sky than it was several months ago when Zeppelins visited the city and made their escape unhindered.

The increase in offensive protection against hostile aircraft recently provided in the metropolitan district makes it more necessary that the public on the occasion of air raids take cover, so as to be sheltered from falling fragments of shells, said the statement issued by the police.

Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are cured by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface. ADVERTISING PUT TO UNIQUE DUTY FOR BRITISH ARMY

The big pictorial sheets concern themselves largely with this. There is one four feet high, a fine piece of drawing, that shows a father sitting before his hearth with two little boys on his knee. "Father, where did you serve in the war?" they ask, and the man hides his face in his hands.

Hard for "Others"

Another spirited sketch shows a typical trench scene. "What are you doing in London?" queries the poster accusingly. "You are proud of your pals in the trenches," says another. "But what do your pals think of you?" There is a picture of the men in khaki marching proudly by, and a nondescript crowd gaping at their heels. "The crowd or the ranks—which?" No man who is worthy of the name will hang back if he is fit to go, say the posters. "There are three types of men: Those who hear the call and obey; those who delay, and—the others." Truly, these must be uncomfortable days for the others.

But there is a class of men, independent and hardheaded, who would remain unmoved by the world's opinion if they did not conceive it their duty to go to the front. For these there is a special line of appeal. "What would happen to the empire if every man stayed home?" stares down at them from London walls. And the trenches send a call. "Come over here—you're wanted." A big lithograph shows a line of khaki figures at attention. There is a single gap in the rank, conspicuous as a single all at sea. It is someone's duty to fill the gap. "Do your bit," the poster has it.

Closely allied to the appeal to duty is the patriotic appeal, a strain sounded in a dozen different keys. There are posters that are exact facsimiles in size, shape and color of the Union Jack. "Fight for the dear old flag," runs the legend. "Boys, be British. Enlist now." Song sheets bearing the national airs are distributed widely, and on them an occasional American may note that "Three Cheers for the Red, White and Blue" is sung as a British National hymn, with Britannia substituted for Columbia.

Appeal to Revenge

Those who are stirred neither by calls to patriotism, shame nor sense of duty, the recruiters attempt to bring forward by awakening the spirit of revenge. After the Scarborough Zeppelin raids the biggest posters of all, great "three-sheet affairs" nine feet high, were put up, and the recruiting offices for a time had a rush of volunteers. There is some attempt to make "Remember the Lusitania," a catch-word like our own, "Remember the Maine."

Another angle the posters take is an appeal to the primitive martial spirit, pure and simple. "Ye gallant sons of Wales, to arms!" is such a one. Another is a picture of a Belgian battalion. "Will you fight for Britain as they fight for Belgium?" "You're wanted, sonny," runs one rhythmic invocation. "There's a gap in the line that needs filling; all over England the bugles are sounding—" "Fall in!" The boys at the front are wondering when you will come. One poster bears the picture of a well-loved general who fell in action. "He did his duty—will you do yours?"

Much Poetry

Literary England is represented in the campaign by numerous quotations of martial application taken from Shakespeare down. Current war-poetry is circulated on handbills. Men who cannot enlist themselves on account of age or physical disability are urged to bring forward another recruit. As a last resort, it is pointed out that it is far better to come forward voluntarily than to adopt an attitude which will force conscription. The conscript will have to take all the chances of war; his pay will be less; in place of honor he will have only shame; instead of a welcome from the boys in the trenches he will be received with cold contempt. "Do you think you will get the same treatment?" (as the men who volunteered) says one leaflet. "Not a bit of it. You won't deserve it."

A long list of more or less epigrammatic catch-words have been evolved for use in the leaflets and lithographs. "Enlist Now." "A Million Men." "No More Thin Lines." "Do Your Bit." are a few of them that occur again and again. "God Save the King," of course, you find at the bottom of almost every poster.

Clever in Form

Some of the bills are cleverly gotten up in a form to drive home their meaning. One sheet is cut in the shape of a brawny arm with clenched fist. "Lend your arm to the cause," it says. "Your country needs you," says another, printed on a red map of the British Isles. A big khaki-colored sheet queries, "Why aren't you in khaki?" There is a facsimile of the much-discussed Belgian treaty in color with red seals and blue ribbon. Perhaps the most striking of these ingenious solicitations is a wireless from the trenches:

Send Out Soldiers,

with the S. O. S., wireless call for relief in big letters.

The printed matter does not confine itself to bill-posters. An immense number of leaflets have been issued, discussing every possible angle of the situation. They include extracts from the speeches of statesmen, the views of the Bar and church, appeals to employers, to wholesalers and retailers, to trade unions and to every other organization that might influence the action of a possible recruit. The scheme of the separation allowance, by which the government contributes toward the support of dependents of any man who enlists is fully discussed. The twelve divisions of the recruiting system are laid out, showing

A TWICE-TOLD TALE

One of Interest to Our Readers

Good news bears repeating, and when it is confirmed after a long lapse of time, even if we hesitated to believe it at first hearing, we feel secure in accepting its truth now. The following experience of a La Crosse woman is confirmed after two years.

Mrs. H. Hermanson, 1125 S. Third St., La Crosse, says: "I had dizzy and nervous spells and my kidneys were weak. My back ached intensely. Nothing helped me until I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Erhart's drug store. I was soon rid of the pain and other kidney ailments." (Statement given October 8th, 1910.)

STILL USES DOAN'S OVER TWO YEARS LATER.

Mrs. Hermanson said: "Whenever any symptoms of kidney trouble appear, I use Doan's Kidney Pills. They soon restore me to good health."

each man to which office he should apply. In order that all this important should not call out men who are needed at home, a picture has been gotten out showing the munition worker and the man in khaki standing with clasped hands.

Posters Teach Public

The posters do not deal exclusively with the recruiting campaign. One of the most interesting of all is a big sheet showing in great detail how to distinguish between British and German aircraft—especially aeroplanes, since the Zeppelin is unmistakable. Every type of "plane is shown in silhouette, as it appears from below, each British model next to the German model that most resembles it, and the differences are carefully pointed out. Instructions are given for conduct in case the flyer is German. Avoid excitement, say the poster, avoid the nearest naval or military authorities by telephone, take refuge in a cellar if the peril comes too close, and never touch unexploded bombs.

But the great bulk of the poster literature is, of course, part of the movement to stimulate recruiting to the last possible degree. The ideas take a hundred shapes and forms, but there is one big bill which combines the gist of them all—the "Five Question Poster". It asks:

- 1.—Are you satisfied?
- 2.—Do you feel happy when you see other men wearing the king's uniform?
- 3.—What will you say when people ask you, 'Where did you serve?'
- 4.—What will you answer your children when they ask, 'Father, why weren't you a soldier, too?'
- 5.—What would become of the Empire if every man stayed at home?

And so England is meeting the enlistment problem. There is nothing else like it in Europe because in the other countries, both central and allied, service is compulsory. But it is of particular interest to us in the United States, because in case of emergency it is about what we would have to do ourselves.

A man may be a lion at home and a sheep abroad.

VERDICT VICTORY FOR DEFENSE IN VIADUCT CASES

Who Is to Pay $350 Damages Is Matter Still Up to the Court for Decision

A jury in circuit court yesterday afternoon returned a verdict in the suit revolving around the building of the Rose street viaduct which was virtually a victory for the defendants, the Milwaukee Road, the Wisconsin Railway Light and Power company, and the city of La Crosse.

The suit was brought by Nettie Henry, owner of property abutting on the viaduct. It was selected from three which were scheduled to be heard in circuit court this term. In a special verdict, the juryman agreed that the damage to the property from the erection of the viaduct was $350. Mrs. Henry claimed $1,000.

The question as to whether the city or the railroad is liable for damages is yet undecided, and the verdict of the jury has no weight until Judge Higgins gives a decision on the legal side of the question. Damages alleged to amount to more than $30,000 are claimed by north side people who are awaiting the outcome of the three cases now in circuit court.

Water and Ice Cover Bridge Near Freeburg and Train Is Fourteen Hours Late

Swollen to many times its normal size, Crooked Creek, near Freeburg, Minn., completely blocked traffic on the Reno-Preston branch of the Milwaukee road last night. Train No. 23, due to arrive here at 5:30 yesterday evening, arrived at nine o'clock this morning.

Water and huge piles of ice completely covered the bridge. Making passage impossible. Early this morning the ice had cleared enough to allow traffic to be resumed.

Farm lands in the Crooked Creek district are under water and considerable damage is reported.

ITCHING ECZEMA COVERED ENTIRE BODY, RESINOL CURED

Could Not Sleep, 8 Remedies had Failed.
Resinol Stopped Itching Immediately.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 11, 1914.—"My entire body, even my eyelids, was completely covered with blisters as large as a pea. When one would burst water would come from it, and then it would turn into a very painful sore. The burning and itching were something terrible, and I COULD NOT SLEEP nor rest. I think I had one of the worst cases of eczema a human being ever had. "I used eight different kinds of remedies without success. I then tried Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap and it stopped the itching IMMEDIATELY. I gradually noticed a change for the better. Now I am entirely cured, and am without a pimple or blemish on any part of my body." (Signed) Edward F. McCullough, 249 River St., Mattapah. Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap heal skin eruptions, clear away pimples, and form a most valuable household treatment for sores, burns, etc. Sold by all druggists.

Under the plan proposed by Commissioner Norgord tuberculin tested cattle will not only be given a rating above those not tested, but this rating will be inter-state and will be maintained and backed by veterinary departments of all states. The plan already has been endorsed by a number of states.

Under the new order of things the herds coming under the test and found free from tuberculosis will be certified as Class A herds and will be so listed in all states. Therefore it will be an inducement for the breeder to voluntarily acquire this certification as soon as possible.

LA CROSSE UNIONS GIVES HOUR'S WORK TO HELP HATTERS

Every Worker of City's Organized Trades Today Helps Funds to Save Danbury Homes

In an effort to swell the fund for the unfortunate Danbury hatters, of Danbury, Conn., who were made paupers through a decision of the United States supreme court in a Sherman anti-trust suit brought by a New York hat manufacturer, every union man in La Crosse today donated the proceeds of his second hour's work.
Approximately $700 was raised, according to Joe Rae, American Federation of Labor organizer here.
"The boys came to the support of the cause loyally," he said. "I know of none who are not giving every cent they made during the second hour of their work, and when the coal bin's eternally getting empty, it means a whole lot to them."
Today was selected by officers of the American Federation of Labor as the day for the donations for the reason that today is Samuel Gompers' birthday. Mr. Gompers is sixty years old.
The sum of $300,000 is needed to reinstate the hatters in their homes. Everything, included their small dwellings was taken from them by the court. They are, in the main, old men.

In the maternity ward were many mothers with infants only a few days old. They were moved to safety in a ward slightly affected by the smoke. Mrs. Leo Stack became a mother as the fire raged.

An inhabitant of La Crosse since 1856, Wenzel Doerre, 84, died early today at the home of his brother, Frank Doerre, Sr., 815 South Seventh street. The infirmities due to his advanced age were the cause of Mr. Doerre's death.

Wenzel Doerre was born December 5, 1831, in Bohemia. At the age of 35 he came to La Crosse, where for many years he plied his trade of shoemaker in the establishments of Charles Gesell, Sr., and William Straus, Sr. Subsequently Mr. Doerre spent several years as a farmer in the town of Shelby.

Funeral services for the pioneer will be held Saturday morning at 8:30 from the residence on South Seventh street, and at 9 o'clock from St. Joseph's cathedral. Rev. Peter Pape will officiate, and the body will be laid to rest in the Catholic cemetery.

GERMAN REPORT SAYS BRITISH GARRISON AT ADEN IS THREATENED

BERLIN, via Wireless to Sayville, L. I., Jan. 27.—Twenty thousand British troops defending the Arabian seaport of Aden, are under heavy attack by combined Arab and Turkish forces and in a dangerous position, according to reports received here today.

The Cologne Volk-Zeitung received a report from Cairo, dated December 30, declaring that the British have lost 15,000 in killed and 20,000 wounded in fighting around Aden since the beginning of the war. A wounded British major is given as authority for the statement that Arabian sheiks have gone over to the Turks and that nearly 100,000 square miles of Arabian territory formerly controlled by the British, has been lost to them.

Berlin reported several weeks ago that a Turkish force had driven the British in upon Aden and was preparing to attack the city. This report was subsequently denied by the British officials.

Aden is strongly fortified and is known as the "Gibraltar of the East" because of the position it holds with reference to the Suez canal it is a trading center of the greatest importance.

RAJAH UNABLE TO SETTLE HIS GRIEFS

CHICAGO, Jan. 27.—Roger Bresnahan, ex-Cub pilot, who holds a two-year contract with the Cubs, calling for $10,000 a year, was on the war-path again today. The latest dose is that Bresnahan will sue the Cubs, or possibly resort to injunction proceedings. He and Weeghman could not agree yesterday on a compromise.

GIRL CONFESSES MURDER

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—Kathleen Magaw, alias Kitty McCormack, a pretty 29-year-old girl, has confessed, according to the Hoboken police, that she hired two thugs to kill Gregory George, whose mangled body was found near Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., on the night of January 15.

FRANCE AND ITALY ARE DRAWN INTO DIPLOMATIC TANGLE

State Department Considers Protest Against French Participation in the Blockade

EXPECT OFFER OF ARBITRATION

Lord Gray in Parliament Speech Says Britain Will Drop Project for the Present

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Diplomatic problems continued multiplying today. France and Italy were new countries involved in new disputes over the blockade of Germany and mounting of guns on Italian liners. With England lines were drawn for renewal of negotiations over the order in council, with Germany, negotiations for final settlement of the Lusitania case suffered a brief respite while this government's demands are being considered in Berlin.

New Protest to France?
The state department was today considering a new and separate protest to France over French co-operation with England in enforcing the British order in council blockading Germany. The debate in parliament over the blockade was closely studied. The administration, as a result, has little hope of concessions from the allies in reply to its note notifying England that it would not recognize the "paper" blockade.

All developments in the blockade situation, according to belief in official circles, tend toward an eventual offer of arbitration of the blockade issues. Officials are convinced that England, with France's support, intends to continue the neutral commerce interferences, with slight concessions wherever possible to appease the neutrals.

Arming of Italian merchant ships was becoming a prominent issue. Arrival of another armed Italian vessel at New York—the America—presented a problem for quick solution. The Verona, armed, is also there. The Verona and America probably will be allowed to sail with their guns still mounted, under a pledge to use their guns for defensive purposes only. The protests of Austria against the armament will be taken up later with Italy. That the administration sympathizes with the Austrian viewpoint of the armament question and may support Austria in refusing to recognize such armed vessels as peaceful merchantmen was hinted today.

Unite Allies for Blockade?

LONDON, Jan. 27.—A joint note signed by all the allies, answering the latest protests from the United States and Sweden and setting forth the allies' position toward neutral trade for the period of the war, is in contemplation, it was learned today. By uniting all the entente powers in a single declaration of policy, the allied diplomats plan to make an impressive showing of unified purpose that will influence all action by neutrals. The first official hint of such a program was dropped by Sir Edward Grey in a speech on the proposed blockade yesterday. The foreign minister declared the blockade proposal would be allowed to rest for the present.

The English press today unanimously applauded the plain intimation from the government that it intends to deal firmly with the U. S. in answering the latest protest against British trade regulations. The newspapers at the same time pointed out that the British foreign minister gave assurance that interests of neutrals are not being ignored by the allies in prosecuting the war.

On the question of blockade, however, editorial utterances were widely divergent. Those newspapers supporting the demand for a blockade

RAILROAD GENTLE WITH TRAIN LOAD OF RUSS EXPLOSIVE

Long Train Passes Through La Crosse on Burlington with Powder for the Czar's Armies

Enough gun powder, dynamite, big and little gun cartridges, and high explosives to leave nothing but a big hole where La Crosse stood, went through the city early this week on the Burlington railroad, bound for Russia, where it will be hurled by the Cossacks and infantrymen at their enemies.

It didn't go off. The engineer who changed locomotives at grand crossing backed into the train of seventy or eighty cars—gently, and when the solid "gun powder" special pulled out for Seattle, where the stuff will be loaded aboard ships, there was little jerking.

The explosives came from eastern powder and shell manufacturers, and were billed for the land of the czar. Smaller shipments of guns, ammunition, and other munitions of war are being shipped through La Crosse daily, according to officials of the road.

ACCIDENTAL RETURN PREVENTS FIRE OF GREAT DAMAGE

Returning to his office at 120 Main street early last night from a day's trip out of the city, Morris Tuteur, proprietor of the Tuteur Cigar and Mercantile company, probably prevented a fire which would have caused a loss of thousands of dollars. Tuteur entered his office upon his return to the city to exchange overcoats. He had changed garments just prior to leaving the city in the morning. As he walked through his office door, a cloud of smoke almost forced him back. He saw that one corner of the room was on fire, and rushed out. Central hose company was called.

The fire started in a barrel which contained waste paper. The loss was estimated by Mr. Tuteur at about $200.

NO STOMACH PAIN, GAS, INDIGESTION IN FIVE MINUTES

"Pape's Diapiesin" is the only real stomach regulator known.

"Really does" put bad stomachs in order—"really does" overcome indigestion, dyspepsia, gas, heartburn and sourness in five minutes—that—just that—makes Pape's Diapiesin the largest selling stomach regulator in the world. If what you eat ferments into stubborn lumps, you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food and acid; head is dizzy and aches; breath foal; tongue coated; your insides filled with bile and indigestible waste, remember the moment "Pape's Diapiesin" comes in contact with the stomach all such distress vanishes. It's truly astonishing—almost marvelous, and the joy is its harmlessness.

A large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapiesin will give you a hundred dollars' worth of satisfaction or your druggist hands you your money back. It's worth its weight in gold to men and women who can't get their stomachs regulated. It belongs in your home—should always be kept handy in case of a sick, sour, upset stomach during the day or at night. It's the quickest, surest and most harmless stomach regulator in the world.

UPDIKE BOYS OUT ON FATHER'S BOND

CHICAGO, Jan. 27.—Irving and Herbert Updike, indicted for conspiracy to murder their wealthy parents, were free today on bonds signed by their father, Furman D. Updike, and a banker friend.

"I'm going to give the boys another chance," the elder Updike said. "Unless the state's attorney insists on prosecuting them, I'll send them to a ranch out west."

Herbert Updike said today he would make no effort to join his cabaret-singer bride, Nellie De Orsonne Updike, just now.

GLASS OF WATER BEFORE YOU EAT

ANY BREAKFAST
Wash poison from system each morning and feel fresh as a daisy.

Every day you clean the house you live in to get rid of the dust and dirt which collected through the previous day. Your body, the house your soul lives in, also becomes filled up each twenty-four hours with all manner of filth and poison. If only every man and woman could realize the wonders of drinking phosphated hot water, what a gratifying change would take place.

Instead of the thousands of sickly, anaemic-looking men, women and girls with pasty or muddy complexions; instead of the multitudes of "nervy wrecks," "rundowns," "brain fags" and pessimists we should see a virile, optimistic throng of rosy-cheeked people everywhere. Everyone, whether sick or well, should drink each morning before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour fermentations and poisons, thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Those subject to sick headache, biliousness, nasty breath, rheumatism, colds; and particularly those who have a pallid, sallow complexion and who are constipated very often, are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store which will cost but a trifle but is sufficient to demonstrate the quick and remarkable change in both health and appearance awaiting those who practice internal sanitation. We must remember that inside cleanliness is more important than outside, because the skin does not absorb impurities to contaminate the blood, while the pores in the thirty feet of bowels do.

LAGGING CALENDAR DISAPPOINTS MANY IN CIRCUIT COURT

Crowd Assembles to Hear Dummer Heart-balm Suit But Other Cases Intervene

In anticipation of sensational testimony in the heart-balm suit brought by Nellie Dummer against Dr. Carlyle W. Watterson, a crowd of spectators packed circuit court this morning while a jury listened to the Blair island matter.

The room began to fill early. Disappointed that the Dr. Watterson suit was not called for trial, many left, but others took their place, and the chamber was filled until late in the morning.

It is now expected that the case will be begun tomorrow morning. At the conclusion of the Blair suit today, a minor case from Vernon county was called for trial.

While the crowd in circuit court room waited for the breach of promise suit to come on, Nellie Dummer, plaintiff in the action against the prominent La Crosse dentist, was grilled under the Wisconsin discovery statute in county court by attorneys.

Judge Brindley announced at beginning of the hearing that the public would be excluded from the court room. Newspapersmen were forced to leave. Miss Dummer was kept on the stand for nearly an hour and a half.

MRS. MOHR TELLS OF HER FAITH IN HUSBAND'S LOVE

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Jan. 27.—"I knew in my heart that the doctor loved me and no one else."

With these words Mrs. Elizabeth F. Mohr today resumed the story of her unhappy married life with the Rhode Island physician, in the superior court where she is being tried on the charge of hiring three negroes to slay her husband.

Mrs. Mohr took up her relations with the doctor after her separate maintenance suit began. "I wanted the children to see their father," she said, "even after I began suit, and I sent them to have dinner with him almost every night the first week after I filed the petition."

She denied ever having any money transactions with any of the negroes.

NINE DEMOCRATS FROM LA CROSSE

Joseph Bartl, acting chairman of the democratic county committee, today received word from the democratic state central committee that La Crosse county is entitled to nine delegates to the state convention to be held in Milwaukee, February 1. They will be chosen at a meeting of La Crosse county democrats in the city hall Saturday afternoon.

The semi-annual dividend of 3 1/2 per cent on the preferred stock also was declared.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—A socialist presided over the first time in its history. Representative Meyer London of New York was in the chair for about two minutes, being called to act as speaker when the house rose from sitting as a committee of the whole to receive an executive report.

WOOD IS PESSIMISTIC ABOUT CHANCES OF U. S. NAVY IN CASE OF WAR

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—The United States navy would be at the bottom of the sea in less than sixty days, perhaps sooner, if this country were attacked by a first-class power, General Leonard Wood told the house committee on military affairs today.

Sea control lost, the present mobile force could not stop an invading force which would capture New York and the North Atlantic coast states, exact tribute and drive the American people back into the interior where they would be left defenseless, without ammunition and powder plants, Wood said. Control of several eastern states would give an invader eighty per cent of the gun and powder plants and the United States' store of gold.

He said popular opinion that difficulty would be encountered by an enemy in moving troops across the sea was ridiculous and that as a matter of fact movement by sea was the "easiest in the world."

"The continental army is simply a stop-gap or make-shift for what we must eventually come to in this country, universal military discipline along the Swiss and Australian line," said General Wood.

UNDERWOOD OUT AGAINST WILSON'S TARIFF BOARD

Senator Declares Commission Urged by President Is Not Necessary

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Senator Oscar Underwood, author of the Underwood tariff bill, today announced his opposition to President Wilson's plan for a tariff commission. He intimated his opposition would be active.

Denying he considered the president's plan an attack on his revenue measures, he said he thought there was plenty of government machinery now to gather such information as the president has said he wants.

"The foreign and domestic commerce bureau," said Underwood, "and the census department now gather practically every pertinent and pertinent economic fact to be had in the country. The foreign commerce bureau, too, collects data as to the commercial methods of other nations."

"The federal trade commission to a degree has done the same kind of work. Any further commission or study would simply be duplication."

By eliminating complete government ownership and other objections to the original ship purchase bill, the president has won support of Democratic House Leader Kitchin, Senator Clarke of Arkansas, and other opponents.

The principal doubt today regarding its fate rested with the New York and Tammany group in congress.

The White house and democratic leaders in congress were also in accord today in the Philippine independence plan, outlined in Senator Hitchcock's amendment to the senate bill, promising independence in two or four years unless conditions make it impossible and having the United States and other powers, if possible, guarantee the islands' sovereignty for five years.

BOY BANDITS ROB CHICAGO BANK OF $13,000 IN CASH

tellers, jumped in a machine that was outside the bank and chased the small car for a mile, but it disappeared in a maze of traffic.

The bandits all wore masks, which they donned in the street just as the car reached the bank. The automobile had no license number.

The bank, at 760 East 63rd street, is in one of the most populous sections of the south side and has been known for several years as "Jake Stahl's bank."

The robbery came as another incident in the wave of banditry that has swept Chicago for months. Policemen have been shot down in busy streets, hundreds of pedestrians robbed and stores and banks as well as private residences, plundered in broad daylight.

FACTORY PROBLEM ROUND TABLE TOPIC

R. Roseman, superintendent of the Welfare department of the A. O. Smith Co., Milwaukee, will discuss "Tuberculosis As a Problem in Factory Ceterosis" at the regular meeting of the La Crosse Safety Round Table in the city hall tonight.

CHANGE DATE OF CAR HEARINGS

City Clerk E. H. Hoffman was today notified by the railroad commission that the date of the hearings by that body on the local street car situation has been changed from February 17 to February 15 at the city hall. The hearing in the case of the Bangor Telephone company against the Milwaukee railroad will be held in the La Crosse city hall February 17.

The three complaints of the city in the car cases include Twenty-third street line service, Oak Grove cemetery line service and general service.

HE INTENDED TO MAKE ISLAND PARK

Charles G. Blair Testifies in Court of Plan to Beautify Black River

MAYBE IT'S NOT HIS ISLAND

Judge Intimates That Mr. Blair's Title to the Land Is Open to Question

That he had intended to carry out his pet scheme of beautifying the ugly jut from Taylor's Island, situated at the mouth of Black river, and at some future time transforming the half submerged piece of "built-up" land into a park was the statement of Charles G. Blair, testifying in his suit against George Holzhammer in circuit court this morning.

Blair is suing Holzhammer for damages for alleged cutting of brush on his property.

On the outcome of the suit hangs the true ownership of Taylor's Island, long in dispute. Puzzling legal propositions were brought up in the trial this morning, and for thirty minutes the jury was sent into the corridors while Judge Edward C. Higbee listened to attorneys interested in the case.

Mr. Blair and his brother, John Blair, testified that they came by the property in 1903 through a tax deed from the city of La Crosse. Judge Higbee ruled that a tax deed from the city for property situated in the town of Campbell, in which Taylor's Island lies, held no color. He intimated that he believed the deed was invalid.

Judge Higbee held that the jut which Charles G. Blair said he intended transforming into a park was not part of Taylor Island. He also said that parts of the property, situated in the southwest corner, were not legally parts of the property.

EXTEND CHARTER REVISION TO GET BETTER SERVICE

people, with proper legal guidance to assure its constitutionality.

It is understood Mayor Bentley does not believe in the commission government, because he regards it as a step away from democracy. It is said, however, that he believes that could positions requiring expert knowledge be filled by a civil service inquiry into the fitness of applicants, the city service would be improved. However, the mayor indulges in only tentative suggestions, as he regards it as the business of all the people.

Working Out a Plan

The La Crosse Bar association has agreed to give the present charter a rough overhauling, and to draft some plan upon which agreement can be reached, bringing it up to the needs of a city that has multiplied in population since its adoption. It is probable that thereafter suggestions from citizens will be solicited, and that a mass-meeting of citizens will be held to consider the problem.

Hope for Early Draft

It is the hope of the administration that the bar association will find it possible, at an early date, to submit its plan to the council so as to give ample time for consideration. It is appreciated that the attorneys are doing this as a patriotic work, and their important service is appreciated. It is assumed that experiences of present and former city attorneys will prove useful to the bar association in its work.

One thing the mayor is believed to favor is higher pay for the board of public works, a proper adjustment of authority to insure efficiency, and a method of selection which will not leave qualifications of commissioners to guess-work.

Want Quick Results

City Attorney J. E. Higbee has given considerable time during the past month to a close study of the law, and it is said to be the wish of the administration that the whole subject shall be disposed of so early in the coming legislative session as to avoid embarrassment to the citizens and to worthy civic and semi-civic institutions that may be affected.

MacWillie Approves

When told today of the stand of the Bentley administration, D. W. MacWillie, president of the Manufacturers and Jobbers' club, declared that his association would be in harmony with the mayor's plan. This is significant in that it negates the possibility of strife over the situation, and it is now deemed probable that all forces will get together to push through a satisfactory bill.

"We have already drawn a bill to legalize city support for shippers' associations in cities of this class," said President MacWillie, and provided it does not include matter of doubtful constitutionality, we will be glad to support a broader measure to relieve the other institutions."

President MacWillie added that he believed the M. and J. would hasten to the support of a charter revision calculated to strengthen our city government. "You may be sure our support will be represented by a delegation of the most influential members," he concluded.

SNOW AND COLD IS COMING FROM NORTH

"Snow tonight," said the weatherman, and the appearance of cars coming into the city today from the north bore out his statement. All were covered with snow, and trainmen reported a zero temperature at Wabasha. The cold wave is expected in La Crosse this evening.

CONVENTION SPLIT ON ENDORSEMENT FOR U. S. SENATOR

the loss of $47. Others may have been robbed.

Favor Protection

Declaring in favor of a protective tariff based on the difference between the industrial conditions here and abroad; a review of the achievements of the administration of Gov. E. L. Philipp and a defense of the calling of a convention when Wisconsin has a primary election law were the principal topics of former State Senator George B. Hudnall in the key note speech before the convention.

Senator Hudnall reviewed industrial conditions in this country; said that no man should be nominated and elected who had taken a part in the passage of the Underwood act, an evident thrust at Senator La Follette and said the convention should name delegates who stood for a protective tariff.

For Party Success

"We should nominate and the voters should elect," declared Senator Hudnall, "as delegates to the national republican convention only those men who have been identified with, who thoroughly believe in and who will work for the fundamental principles of the republican party, the most important of which is a protective tariff. No one who had a part in the making or passing of the Underwood act should be a candidate before, or a delegate to, the national republican convention in 1916."

Senator Hudnall said that in "spite of the most persistent, malicious and protracted opposition," Gov. Philipp succeeded in reducing the appropriations in 1915 approximately $1,000,000. He said that "past differences within the republican party should be forgotten and that all should bring to bring back to all classes that measure of happiness and prosperity always enjoyed by them under national republican administrations."

MANY CASES OF RHEUMATISM NOW

Says We Must Keep Feet Dry, Avoid Exposure and Eat Less Meat.

Stay off the damp ground, avoid exposure, keep feet dry, eat less meat, drink lots of water and above all take a spoonful of salts occasionally to keep down uric acid.

Rheumatism is caused by poisonous toxin, called uric acid, which is generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine. The pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly, cold weather the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work, they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this uric acid which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles causing stiffness, soreness and pain called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is said to eliminate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys to normal action, thus ridding the blood of these impurities.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism. Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink which overcomes uric acid and is beneficial to your kidneys as well.

Bridegroom Put On Exhibition After Kidnaping

In a box at the Majestic theater decorated with placards announcing his new wedded state, under a spotlight while the orchestra played wedding marches, Oscar Engaas, well-known young grocer, was held a prisoner just after his marriage last night by members of a bachelor club of which he was president. Engaas was kept for an hour and a half separated from his bride, who was formerly Miss Caroline Limpert.

The club members descended upon the bride's home in two automobiles, captured their erstwhile leader, and despite his struggles, carried him off to the exhibition box already prepared at the Majestic.

PRESIDENT SAYS HE IS FOR POLICY OF JUSTICE WITHOUT AGGRESSION

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—"Justice without aggression," is the keynote of President Wilson's policy toward Mexico, he told 2,000 clergymen assembled in Aeolian hall here at noon today.

"The foundation of peace is justice without aggression," the president declared, adding that he was committed to the policy of allowing Mexico to work out her own affairs.

The president's address was in reply to an earnest expression of appreciation of his efforts to keep this country at peace.

"One must search for the foundation of peace," he said. "I can find no better foundation than justice without aggression. The greatest force in the world is character. It can be expressed on a national scale. America has always stood resolutely for the right of every people to determine its own attitude towards its own affairs. I am committed to take that attitude toward our distressed neighbor to the south."

President Wilson indicated plainly that he is no longer "too proud to fight." In an address at Aeolian hall, before a great crowd of ministers representing many denominations, he said:

"I always accept, perhaps by some impulse of my native blood the challenge to fight."

He added that with him it was not "a case of knock down and drag out," but "a case of putting up the best reason why your own side should survive."

In the pronouncement of his doctrine as to peace and belligerency, the president obviously attempted to eliminate from further discussion the "too proud to fight" phrase which has resulted in greater criticism both in this country and Europe than any other utterance of the chief executive.

LIBRARY, PUBLIC WORKS AND RATE BOARD AFFECTED

It is understood that the La Crosse County Bar association has practically agreed to do the work without cost to the city.

The four appropriations most affected are:

Increase in salary of the three members of the board of public works from $1,090 to $1,200 per year.

Fifteen hundred dollars to the La Crosse Shippers' association to be paid in $500 annual installments.

Increase from $500 to $1,000 per annum in salaries of Walter Winter and Edward Miller, tax assessors, to permit them to devote their entire time to the work and delve into personal property valuation.

Six thousand dollars to the public library, which is $4,000 in excess of the amount allowed under the present charter. All moneys due aldermen or other city officials for goods sold to for work done for the city of La Crosse, this being prohibited by state statute and not city ordinance or charter provision.

Mayor Bentley and other city officials today declined to discuss the situation, further than to state that hereafter they will attach their signatures to no vouchers about which a question has been raised until they have been thoroughly advised by Mr. Higbee that they are right.

EMBARGO QUESTION UP

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—The submission by Senator Kenyon of a law of an arms embargo petition bearing 1,938,000 names today stirred the senate to a heated discussion of war traffic.

"I hope the time will come," said Senator Clapp of Minnesota, "when that awful incongruity of a Christian nation loading one ship with goods and clothing for orphans and another with powder to make more orphans with cease."

STEEL FIRM MAKES MONEY

YOUR SICK CHILD IS CONSTIPATED! LOOK AT TONGUE

If cross, feverish or bilious give "California Syrup of Figs."

No matter what ails your child, a gentle, thorough laxative should always be the first treatment given. If your little one is out-of-sorts, half-sick, isn't resting, eating and acting naturally—look, Mother! see if tongue is coated. This is a sure sign that its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with waste. When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad or has stomach-ache, drowsy, sore throat, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated poison, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without gripping, and you have a well, playful child again.

Mothers can rest easy after giving this harmless "fruit laxative," because it never fails to cleanse the little one's liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach and they dearly love its pleasant taste. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 5-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then see that it is made by the California Fig Syrup Company.

OFFICERS LEADING DETACHMENT ARE PUT UNDER ARREST

On their return they were again fired on by the Mexicans.

U. S. Officers Arrested

Major General Funston has ordered Lieutenants Mort, Payton and Waldron of Battery D, Fourth Field artillery, placed under arrest because of their alleged participation in the invasion of Mexican soil.

Colonel Quintinilla, Carranza commandant at Matamoros in the absence of General Ricaut, on receipt of a report from Funston immediately telegraphed the Carranza commandant at Rio Bravo, nine miles south of Progreso to send a detachment of troops to Wheeler's and Pederson's rescue. Funston is reported to have said that the responsibility for the incident apparently rested on the American side, as he had given strict orders for no soldier to cross the boundary under any circumstances.

Story Confirmed by Funston

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—The war department today received a dispatch from General Funston on the border confirming the story that two American soldiers were captured by armed Mexicans and four others drowned in the Rio Grande when they were fired upon while swimming.

American soldiers, it was pointed out, had no business on Mexican soil and Mexican officials were acting within their rights if they placed them under arrest. It was recalled that similar incidents have occurred before along the border.

Carranzists Responsible

If Mexican civilians, and not Carranza soldiers, took the two Americans into custody, General Funston probably will ask the Carranza commander for assurances as to their safety. The Carranza troops will be held responsible for their safe-keeping.

BOARD OF HEALTH MEETS

At a meeting of the Board of health yesterday Commissioner J. M. Furstenberg reviewed the work of the year ended and discussed plans for health conservation in La Crosse in 1916.

The 1915 report of the health department will be presented at the next council meeting.

To Put On Flesh And Increase Weight

Most people eat from four to six pounds of good solid fat-making food every day and still do not increase in weight one ounce, while on the other hand many of the plump, chunky folks eat very lightly and keep gaining all the time. It's all bosh to say that this is the nature of the individual. It isn't Nature's way at all.

Most thin people stay thin because their powers of assimilation are defective. They absorb just enough of the food they eat to maintain life and a semblance of health and strength. Stuffing won't help them. A dozen meals a day won't make them gain a single "stay there" pound. All the fat-producing elements of their food just stay there in the intestines until they pass through the body as waste. What such people need is something that will prepare these fatty food elements so that their blood can absorb them and deposit them all about the body—something, too, that will multiply their red blood corpuscles and increase their blood's carrying power.

For such a condition it is well to recommend eating a Sargol tablet with every meal. Sargol is not, as some believe, a patented drug, but is simply a careful combination of six of the most effective and powerful assimilative and flesh building elements known to chemistry. It is absolutely harmless, yet has been wonderfully effective and a single tablet eaten with each meal often, according to reports of users, has the effect of increasing the weight of a thin man or woman from three to five pounds a week. Sargol is sold by Hoeschler Bros., and other good druggists everywhere on a positive guarantee of weight increase or money back.

(By Irving M. Tuteur)
MADISON, Wis., Jan. 27.—(Special.)—By defeating Wisconsin's basketball team 27 to 20 in a fast game at Urbana Saturday night, Illinois today holds the lead in the conference race with Wisconsin in second place. While Illinois was beating the Badgers, Northwestern University trounced Chicago for the first time in its history by a score of 28 to 18, and Ohio State whipped Purdue 24 to 19. Illinois started off with a rush which had the Badgers completely bewildered. Ralf Woods, the 128-pound Sucker forward being almost wholly responsible for it. This speedy little player scored seven field goals and five free throws for the down-staters. The first half ended 18 to 9 with Illinois on top. In the second period Wisconsin came within three points of tying the score which at that time stood 21 to 18.

Despite its defeat Saturday, Wisconsin still has a good chance for conference honors, depending on her ability to beat Illinois when the return game is played at Madison on February 19.

Although Dr. Paul O. Withington, line coach at Harvard for the past several years, was conditionally appointed football coach at Wisconsin by the board of regents at its meeting last week, his tentative selection has thus far failed to straighten out the athletic situation to a great degree. Whether Dr. Withington is the man for the place is still a source of debate here, although the "W" club of the university in a signed communication in the Daily Cardinal urged students and the public to assume a fair attitude towards the new coach and give him a chance. The "W" club, which is composed of all Wisconsin men who have won their letters in athletics, declares that Dr. Withington is fully competent, and that he will bring to Wisconsin the successful Harvard system of play, providing he accepts the position of head coach.

Ehler Still Target
Continued pressure is being brought to bear on Dr. George W. Ehler, head of the department of athletics, in an effort to secure his resignation. Attorney Frank L. Gilbert, chairman of the university alumni special investigating committee, has pointed out in report the position of his committee on the much discussed athletic problem. The report submitted recommends the appointment of "an athletic director to have charge of inter-collegiate athletics who has had experience as a player and as a coach, and who is in full sympathy with the development of inter-collegiate athletics."

The report highly recommends inter-collegiate athletics, urges the appointment of both students and alumni to the athletic council, seeks the equalization of eligibility standards so that Wisconsin teams will compete with rivals on an equal basis, asks that Wisconsin teams be given more time to prepare for inter-collegiate contests, and says that the blame for Wisconsin's poor showing in football during the past five years should not be laid on the coaches with circumstances as they have been.

Track Team Hit
Wisconsin's chances of having a winning track team again this year were badly dented during the past week when it was announced that P. G. Stiles, '17, who holds the conference record in the broad jump, would not return to school next semester. Stiles will go to Des Moines, Ia., to enter the banking business with his brother. However, rumors that Arlie Mucke, champion weight man, and Carmen Smith, sprinter, would also leave school, have proved to be unfounded.

Over ninety men are now out for places on the track team, and are taking indoor practice in the gymnasium. Coach Jones says that Wisconsin will put a good and a well-balanced team into the field if the men remain eligible.

Endres Promising
Otto Endres of La Crosse, is regarded as one of the likeliest men for a place on the team. Endres has been vaulting eleven feet regularly lately, and in the handicap meet held at the gym Saturday won first place in the pole vault with a leap of 11 feet 10 inches, which is the best he had ever done, and which should make him feared by opponents in this event.

GRENZNER AND KELLY JUNIOR COLLEGERS
WORK REGULARLY
WITH HIGH SQUAD
BEAT FIRST TEAM
IN UPPER PHYSICS

Men Will Probably Be Used in the Game with Madison on Friday Night

Although Coach Horne still clings to the strange combination he was forced to develop in fear of the worst he has been working Kelly and Grenzner into the lineup the past week. These men have both been fighting their scholastic difficulties all fall and it is now almost certain that Captain Kelly and possibly Grenzner will be in the lineup against Madison on Friday.

The rest of the squad is made up of Layman, Zeisler, Blatter, Roellig, Reget and Bott. Bott has been having a little trouble with blood poisoning but is now back into good working trim. Reget, who led the class champions last year, has not fully recovered from the injury which kept him out of football and he still limps slightly but has been playing a fine game of late making two of the scarce baskets at Baraboo.

With these six men and the two recruits to draw from Coach Horne should make up a five of great strength. Madison respects the locals and has it doped out that a win will put them on the road to the championship. It is very probable that neither of the two schools will join the normal tournament, however, and at the end of the season there will be four or five claimants as usual, since the Appleton tourney apparently has failed.

Collections are being taken up among the students of fifteen cents for the payment of an orchestra for a dance after the game. A record crowd is expected.

NEW YORK MAGNATE IS

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—Attorney Lon Hocker representing the St. Louis Cardinals, is here today to sell the club to Harry F. Sinclair. The sale is expected to be completed within a few days. Hocker and Sinclair were in conference today.

Sinclair is expected to pay $325,000 for the Cardinals. Sinclair will have his pick of the players and it is quite likely that the
